PRO CHANCELLOR'S MESSAGE

Dear Students, Faculty, Alumni, and Esteemed Partners,

The month of June has truly been a celebration of purpose and progress at Symbiosis University of Applied Sciences. From remarkable student accomplishments at national platforms to thought-provoking discussions on education and skilling policies, SUAS continues to thrive as a beacon of applied learning and innovation.

One of the defining moments this month was our landmark collaboration with ICAR-National Soybean Research Institute. Coupled with strategic engagements with city leadership, these efforts mark our commitment to building a robust skilling ecosystem in Madhya Pradesh. We believe that sustainable transformation begins with strong partnerships and a shared vision for industry-integrated education.

Equally inspiring has been the dynamism of student life at SUAS. Initiatives like the Cyber Awareness Campaign, the Model United Nations, and International Yoga Day not only enriched campus life but also exemplified our dedication to holistic development—nurturing not just skilled professionals, but responsible, future-ready citizens.

As we step into a new academic year, let us renew our collective commitment to excellence, innovation, and adaptability. Together, we are not merely shaping careers—we are creating the workforce of the future.

Warm regards,
Dr. Swati Mujumdar

VICE-CHANCELLOR'S MESSAGE

Dear Students, Faculty, Alumni, and Partners,

The month of June has truly been a celebration of purpose and progress at Symbiosis University of Applied Sciences. From impactful student achievements in national competitions to policy-level dialogues on education and skill development, SUAS continues to assert its position as a beacon of applied learning and innovation.

A standout highlight this month has been our growing engagement with leading institutions and stakeholders—from the landmark MoU with ICAR-National Soybean Research Institute to meaningful dialogues with city leadership to strengthen the skilling ecosystem in Madhya Pradesh. Such alliances reaffirm our belief that real-world transformation begins with collaborative intent and industry-integrated education.

It was heartening to witness the vibrancy of student life at SUAS through initiatives such as the Cyber Awareness Campaign, the Model United Nations, and wellness-focused events like International Yoga Day. These diverse engagements reflect the holistic development we strive to offer—shaping not only skilled professionals but responsible global citizens.

As we advance into the new academic year, let us recommit ourselves to excellence, adaptability, and innovation. Together, we are not just educating minds—we are shaping the workforce of the future.

Warm regards,
Prof. (Dr.) Vinith Kumar Nair
